July 25th at State Camps

DR. COWLES INDICTED FOR KIDNAPPING

Mrs. Florence J. Cowles Has Petitioned Court for Separate Custody of Children.

Mrs. Florence J. Cowles of Brookline, Mass., through her counsel, has asked for the separate custody of her two children, May 11, and Virginia Cowles, and a special hearing will be held at Exeter on the 9th day of June before Judge William H. Sawyer.
This action, it is understood, is taken on the part of Mrs. Cowles owing to the recent removal of the two children to the home of Dr. Cowles' mother in Virginia, and the application to the Virginia court for her appointment as guardian over the children.
In connection with this announcement it was also learned that the grand jury at the present session of court returned four indictments against Dr.
Cowles, charging him with kidnapping his two young daughters, and taking them to Toano, Virginia.

RUMORS OF A TRUCE FROM AMSTERDAM

(By Associated Press.)
London, May 18.—According to an Exchange Telegraph from Amsterdam:
a truce has been arranged between Russia and the Central Powers, with the change of the politics of the government. The rumor is from a German source.

(By Associated Press)
Washington, May 18.—All national guard organizations will be called into federal service between July 15 and August 5.
The date set for the calling out of the New England members is July 25.
The various state troops will report as may depend upon the completion at the state camps to remain such time and arrival of supplies at the concentration points.

CARGO OF STEAMER DAMAGED

(By Associated Press)
Boston, May 18.—Fire of an unexplained nature in the $1,000,000 cargo of the British steamer Matapo at her dock today destroyed large quantities of fute and gunny and tea consigned to importers. The vessel was not damaged.
Port officials estimated the damage at $50,000. The ship recently arrived from Calcutta.

MAN INJURED IN THE WOODS

Leg Caught in Wheel of Wagon and Hip Badly Fractured.

George P. Rumford of North Hampton was badly injured this forenoon while at work in the woods. He was walking beside a heavy wagon driving a pair of horses when he fell in such a way as to throw his right leg into the wheel. The movement of the wagon dragged his body quite a distance, resulting in a bad fracture of the hip.
He was later brought to the Portsmouth hospital where Dr. Fernald of North Hampton and Dr. Hannaford of this city attended him.

OLMSTEAD SENTENCED FOR LIFE

Boston, May 18.—J. M. Olmstead, a salesman who shot and killed Miss Violet Moore, a manicurist on March 13, 1916, pleaded guilty to murder today and was sentenced to life imprisonment. Jealousy is believed to have been the motive.

Bullecourt is at last in British possession and the German position on the Drocourt-Queant line is doomed, although it will be some time before the British are able to establish their guns on the heights.

Added reports indicate the importance of the attacks by the Italians against the Austrians.

For the first time in the week all reports from Russia are of a reassuring nature. Premier Levoeff is of the firm opinion that the coalition cabinet will weather the storm.

Gens. Alexis Roussilliff and Gurko have resumed their commands. The most important news from Europe is the arrival of a Japanese naval force at Marseilles to join the allies in their operations against the submarines.

Attacks Were Repulsed.
Paris, May 18.—Several attacks were made by the Germans last night in the vicinity of Croyonne. Today's official statement says they were repulsed. French reconnoitering troops also operated in Lorraine.

Bullecourt Evacuated.

Berlin, May 18.—The official statement by the German army headquarters says the ruins of the former village of Bullecourt were evacuated yesterday.

British Artillery Co-Operating.
London, May 18.—British heavy artillery is operating with the Italians against the Austrians on the Julian front, according to the official statement by the war office.

QUOTED WILSON IN SUPPORT OF PROTECTIVE TARIFF

HON. SHERMAN E. BURROUGHS

U. S. Senator Watson Speaking at Burroughs' Rally Last Evening Urges His Election for Good of District--Mr. Burroughs Stated His Policies in Straightforward Manner

The Hon. Sherman E. Burroughs of Manchester opened his campaign here for election as Congressman from the 1st New Hampshire district for the seat made vacant by the death of the late Cyrus A. Sulloway at a rally held in the Portsmouth Theatre on Thursday. The Republican candidate, who is not a stranger to Portsmouth people, stated his policies without dodging or padding, and he was well received by the men and women who composed his audience. The other speaker on the platform, who spoke in support of the candidate of Mr. Burroughs was the Hon. James E. Watson, Junior, United States Senator from Indiana, and who is considered an one of the finest political speakers in the country.

Will Support the President
Mr. Burroughs was introduced by Harry B. Boynton of this city acting as chairman of the meeting and immediately plunged into the discussion of the political situation in the district.
He stated emphatically that if elected

CHARGED WITH NEGLECT OF DUTY

City Council Passes Resolution For Overseer of Poor to Either Attend to His Duties or Resign

At a meeting of the city council held on Thursday evening, dissatisfaction was expressed by the council for the manners in which William Casey, overseer of the poor, was conducting his office. It was charged that he was neglecting his duties and a motion was passed by the meeting calling upon him to either attend to those duties or send in his resignation. Much ordism has been expressed to members of the council. It was stated and the action of the council was taken on a motion made by Councilman Paterson.

It was stated that Mr. Casey had some time ago taken his books to the city hall and informed one of the city officials "that he was through" but that no resignation had been received. As the statutes call for the election of an overseer of the poor and so is an officer of the city under the city laws, the city can take no action in the election of a successor until the office is made vacant by the present incumbent. The city has been practically without an overseer of the poor for several weeks.

Although the meeting was lengthy, little of interest transpired and few matters of importance were taken up.
The meeting was called to order at 8 o'clock with Councilmen Raynes, Gray, Patterson, Sullivan and Dickey present.

A communication from the mayor was read informing the council that he, so called Knowlton property on Vinton street, now the property of the city of Portsmouth, through its purchase for back taxes was desired again by Miss Moulton, and informed the council that he desired to repay the back taxes and the interest and to secure a deed to the property for Miss Moulton. On motion of Councilman Gray it was voted to allow the sale of the property under these conditions.

On the recommendation of the Board of Public Works, the private sewer on Tebourne and Rockingham streets, the property of Suggen Brothers, was re-charged by the city for the sum of $87.50, on motion offered by Councilman Patterson. This action came after a petition by E. B. Brown and the other residents of the streets and the agreement of Messrs Suggen to sell the sewer to the city at one half its appraised value.

In a petition the Board of Public Works asked for an addition of $304 or oiling streets, due to the rise in the price of oil and other expenses.
Councilman Sullivan voted to accept the petition and place it on file. The motion was lost. Councilman Gray moved that the sum of $300 be transferred from unexpended funds to the department for oiling streets. This was amended by Councilman Dickey to read, "from an unexpended fund", and the amendment was passed with the original motion.

The long disputed question over the acceptance of the extension of Park street was finally settled at the meeting when a motion by Councilman Paterson was passed ordering the city to accept the street. This will entail a small outlay of money by the Board of Public Works in clearing away a small ledge and the filling in of a part of the road for sidewalks. The city had been laid out by the city engineer following the action of the council at the last meeting.

A petition was received by the council from a resident of the city for right to purchase one acre of land at the corner of Bennett and Woodbury avenue in the Adams House field for a homestead. The petition, on motion of Councilman Patterson was referred to a committee on public lands and buildings.

A resolution was introduced giving the mayor authority to appoint a sealer of weights and measures under the new statute passed by the last session of the legislature. The statute calls for the appointment of this officer by the mayor with the approval of the council. On motion of Councilman Sullivan the resolution passed its first reading.

A resolution introduced for the transfer of the sum of $127.13 from the contingent fund for the payment of the cost of military enrollment already accomplished was passed on motion of Councilman Gray.

A petition from the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company for authority to relocate and to check up the poles in the city jointly owned by the company and the Rockingham County Light and Power Company was passed.

The purchase of 500 feet of fire hose on recommendation of Chief Woods of the fire department was passed, this city auditor being authorized to advertise for bids for the same. The motion was made by Councilman Sullivan.

Bills to the amount of $287.23 approved by the auditor, were ordered paid.

Councilman Raynes motioned that at adjournment the council adjourn to June 7.

Councilman Patterson offered a motion calling for the overseer of the poor to attend to his duties or to resign from his office. After some discussion the motion was passed.

On motion of Councilman Dickey the council adjourned to June 7 at 8 o'clock.

AIR PILOTS' ACHIEVEMENTS MUST BE EXTRAORDINARY TO ATTRACT ATTENTION

(By Associated Press)
London, May 18.—In a service like the flying corps the standard of values is on a different plane from that of average lay mines," writes a British military expert from the front. "What is little short of miraculous to the uninitiated is but commonplace to the airman. And a pilot's achievement must be very high indeed before it is regarded with undue interest by his fellows, far less himself."

"This enlarged perspective has extended through a less degree, to the soldiers in the trenches, to whom the antics of an airplane or squadron of airplanes have long since ceased to be a novelty. But sometimes an undeniably touch of class about the manner in which a pilot handles his machine immediately attracts attention of the men below, and the whole trench here will be filled with eager and observant spectators watching his every move."

"Every plane coming up from the rear is earnestly scanned until its identity is established and once it is known that 'he' is coming, the soldiers lean back on the fire step and wonder what new stunt will be introduced. The pilot in turn seems conscious of this expectation of him, and the more cheerfully takes his risks among the 'Archies' because it provides the third trench dweller with a little mild amusement."

"One such pilot existed just at the time when the Germans introduced their much over rated Fokker. This type of machine and the tactics evolved with it certainly secured an initial success against one British airman. This improved plane are constantly being brought out and each side has always its use a certain number of machines inferior to the later enemy planes. When the two types come into conflict the odds are naturally in favor of the better machine. Supremacy in the air, however, depends more on the skill and resourcefulness of the pilot, than on the quality of the airplane he flies, and it is to such resourceful men that the British owe their undeniable supremacy often challenged but never broken, even when for the time the Germans have had the better type of machine."

"The fame of the pilot mentioned, was not confined to any particular sector. The whole line knew his exploits. His name was never mentioned in print at home, but out in France, in every rest camp, village and town, men chuckled hugely over his doings, and were greatly cheered thereby. Here is one of them."

"A British machine was engaged in scouting over the German lines when it was attacked by two Fokkers. The observer saw the first Fokker coming and used his gun so well that the German flattered down to earth badly damaged. The second Fokker, however, dived right behind the British machine and so deluged it with machine gun fire that the pilot had no course left but to attempt a forced landing. The German quickly recovered from his dive and was coming back to finish off his adversary when our pilot dived from behind the clouds. The German saw him coming, bucked sharply and started to climb."

"The pilot stalled his machine and managed to put several shots into the enemy from beneath. One shot killed the observer; another put the engine out of commission; and the Fokker, mortally ill, nose-dived steeply, throwing the dead observer out into mid-air. The pilot managed to regain control before his machine crashed, and contrived to make a landing of some sort. But our pilot was not finished with him. He circled overhead until the German had got clear of his machine and then he descended further and sprayed the Fokker with machine gun fire till it burst into flames. He then started to climb."

"Clouds of German anti-aircraft shells pursued him but he managed to get right over the German firing line before a shell burst near enough to injure him. His machine stopped in its course, its nose fell and down it went, diving steeply to earth. A thousand feet, 500, 200. Everyone's heart jumped in expectation of the crash. Then the plane righted. Along the German line it sped, faster than a swallow, and its machine gun spit savagely into the crowded trenches. It was only a ruse, just another flight of the genius which marked the pilot from the ordinary, and as he mounted heavenwards and flew towards safety of his own lines, he waved his hat to the baffled foe."

THIRTY-TWO CITIES PLANNED FOR TRAINING CAMPS OF ARMY

(By Associated Press)
Washington, May 17.—Complete plans for the construction of 2,000 buildings at the thirty-two camps for the training of the war army are in the war department. It was announced tonight and the work of construction will begin as soon as the camp sites are chosen. The work of construction will be by contract under supervision of army engineer officers. The plans call for the construction and erection of practically thirty-two complete towns and will require 5,000,000 feet of lumber which will be used for the housing of the troops while in training as canvas is so high and short.

There will be 2,000 buildings erected and the force required to build them is estimated at about 22,000 men. While some of the barracks will be two stories the majority will be long, low one-story structures to house a regiment of smaller divisions of the training army.

Each city will be complete and will cover about one square mile of territory not including the vast grounds for training and military operations. The towns will be models of the latest improved communities with modern sanitary systems, and it is the opinion of officers that the plan of the camps is the most advanced which has ever been attempted for the training of an army.

PLAIN TALK FROM THE MAN WITH THE HOE

By Edward S. Pilsworth of the Vigilantes.

When I come in from the morning chores, George was over with a city paper, and George was grumpy. He owns an eighty and two forty's just north of me, and has been having his own troubles in farming it.

"Look here, Ed," he said, and slaps the paper down and jabs his finger on to a letter from a subscriber.

"Look what this galsat here is writin'!

Don't it give you a backache?"

I hunted up my specs, and read the letter and it did.

Here's what the letter said: "To anyone who has traveled, the thousands of acres of arable land lying idle through the country, and so on. Farther down: 'The war is likely to be won on the farms of the United States. It is time for the farmers to turn in and do their share by finding food,' etc., and so on."

After putting it up to the farmer to save the world in this case free kind of way, I suppose the writer hopped a street car and began to warm his office chair for a few hours. Then with the idea that he had done a day's work, went home and helped his wife cuss the high cost of living. Which sure helps fill those thousands of acres like all get out.

Let's look at this thing from a sensible point of view, and see if we can hammer a few facts into the head of this letter writer. First, there's thousands of acres lying idle because there's no one in the country to use them. Get that? Let's put it another way: There's more acres than there are men in the land is plentiful, while men are scarce! That's the facts now, and last year, and the year before, but it ain't going to be the fact this summer. No, Sirree! Things are going to be a heap worse, because a lot of men who were here last year, are going to be in the army when those thousands of acres need work.

If it's up to the farmer to save the country, the country is as good as gone, for the farmer is up against it, like the man the mule kicked. He can't get labor. There's the long and short of it. He's holding up his end, sky high, and he can't do one darned thing more. The city man has got to quit writing foolish letters and turn to go to help, or the high cost is going to go higher and the war is going to be plumb lost and Uncle Sam's ribs are going to show like those of a sick steer.

Any way you can get crops is to plant and cultivate and harvest them, and the bigger crops you want the more you got to plant, which means that you got to have more men to do it, and as every farmer-man, and lots of the women and kids are busy now as the Devil and his seven sons, this help has to come from some other place. We need an army of farm workers.

If this letter writing fellow and all the other hats who knock the farmer will come out and dig those thousands of acres may stand some show of being cultivated, and the high cost come down with a sudden and soul-inspiring thud.

But we need MEN!

How 'bout it, Mr. Cityman?

OFFICERS

Dartmouth college has supplied from its undergraduate body a complete company of Signal Reserve Corps. Capt. L. O. Tardent, U. S. A. Medical Corps, and Capt. C. E. Russell, U. S. R. Signal Corps, have just completed the examination and swearing in of the first half of this company. Some 35 or 40 men have successfully passed their physical examinations, and being sworn in have started intensive Signal Corps training at Dartmouth.

About 30 more have signified their intentions of joining this company just as soon as they can communicate with their parents. The non-commissioned officers of this company will be appointed from the college and they will go into active service as a Dartmouth unit.

Some of the best of the football and baseball players of the college have joined and others are expected to be sworn in on the next visit of the recruiting officer.

ANNUAL MEETING HELD YESTERDAY AT NORTH CHAPEL

BUSINESS MEETING FOLLOWED IN AFTERNOON BY MUSICAL PROGRAM FOR COUNTY
AUXILIARY OF MISSIONS
UNION

On Thursday the annual meeting of the Rockingham County Auxiliary of the New Hampshire Female Cent Institution and Home Missionary Union was represented by 15 societies at the North chapel.

The session opened at 10:30 a. m. the director, Mrs. Anna S. Ross, of Hampton, presiding. The address of welcome given by Miss Mathes, was followed by the reading of reports nominating committee appointed to choose officers included Mrs. Fraser of Rye, Miss Mary Gordon of Exeter and Mrs. Freda Coffin of Hampton. Mrs. Chas. Brown of North Hampton, Mrs. Hugh Brown of Hampton and Mrs. Jennie Stand of Rye were chosen to decide the place of the next annual meeting. Mrs. Hugh Brown gave a paper on "Mormons in Maine." A paper on the "History of the Female Cent Union" written by Mrs. B. W. Lockhart was read by Mrs. Albert Coffin in the former's absence.

Lunch was served at noon in the rear room of the chapel by the Sunday School class of Mrs. Edward C. Matthews. The menu included fish chowder, crackers, rolls, pickles, coffee, fruit, dessert and fancy wafers.

The tables, looked decidedly attractive with flower holders placed at a short distance apart and filled with asters. One of these bright colored flowers was placed on the napkin at each place. American flags adorned the windows and mantel.

Mrs. Frank Clark was in general charge of the sewing assisted by a committee from the class.

In the afternoon the following program took place:

Roll call and reports of committees.

Solo Mrs. Berthwick

Address, "American in Process."

Mrs. L. H. Thayer

Collection for current expenses.

Address Rev. B. R. Stearns

Current Events, Mrs. Walter James

to Congress as the successor of Mr. Sulloway, he intended to do as Mr. Sulloway, the district's choice, would have done: voting in support of the foreign policy of President Wilson, as the other Republican members of Congress have done since the beginning of the present crisis. "If elected to Congress, as I hope and expect to be, on May 22," Mr. Burroughs said, "I will attempt to the best of my ability to represent all of the people of the district and stand behind the President of the United States in his policies in the conducting of the war."

He reviewed the policy which has apparently been adopted by the members of the Republican party now in Congress in supporting President Wilson in his war legislation. In far stronger way than have even the members of his own party. Referring to the long continued absence from the Senate of Senator Henry P. Hollis of New Hampshire, who was not present with the opening of the session or the close of the last session, he said that at any rate he (Mr. Burroughs) would be present at every session and would vote on every question. He said that Mr. Hollis in his speech of the night before at Manchester spoke against his election against the election of Mr. Sulloway, the Democratic candidate, as the logical man because as a Democrat he could and would support Mr. Wilson.

"But I send back to the junior Senator from this state," he said, "the challenge that he must inform the voters why he was not present in his seat in the Senate at the time the country needed him, that he was absent without being paid, and that he failed to vote and his vote was not recorded."

"While I stand behind Mr. Wilson in his foreign policies," Mr. Burroughs continued, "I do not have to stand behind him in his domestic policies, for I am in favor of the return of the protective tariff, and I will advocate and vote for, if I have the opportunity, of placing back on the statute books a firm tariff for the protection of the manufacturer, the people and the wage earner."

"Another thing which I would insist on if elected is that federal office holders in this state will be on the job. I would do my best to see that the Collector of Internal Revenue in New Hampshire would be at his office more than one day in the week."

Mr. Burroughs illustrated the working of the tariff for revenue which was put into operation in the first of Mr. Wilson's administration, and the changes for the bad when the balance of trade dropped more than $100,000 a month until the beginning of the European war, so that in July of 1914 the United States surplus in the treasury had disappeared and we were $11,000,000 in debt. He insisted that at the close of the present war the United States would be loaded with European manufactured goods and that in order to protect the American workingman the duty must be restored for all imports.

He said that with the end of the war with the manufacturing facilities of Great Britain, France and Germany in better condition now than at any time in history, this country would again be in competition with those of Europe for the trade of the whole world, and that unless the tariff is restored the American girls would be compelled to cut the workmen's wages to those paid in Europe or to close out business. Senator Watson reviewed conditions.

Senator Watson was introduced by Mr. Boynton and urged the election of Mr. Burroughs as the logical successor of Mr. Sulloway. In his opening remarks he paid high tribute to Mr. Sulloway with whom he served as a member of the National House for more than twelve years. He said that while he had not known Mr. Burroughs before that day he had known of him from his friends in Washington and from the inquiries he had made during the day he believed that he should be elected.

Mr. Watson said that as a Republican he had voted in support of the President for war, for conscription and for the $7,000,000,000 war revenue bill, as had the other members of the Republican party in the House and the Senate. He spoke of Senator Hollis and caused much merriment when he said that he was not well acquainted with the senator for he had had little opportunity of becoming so although both were members of the Senate.

Mr. Watson quoted from the speech of Mr. Hollis of the night before in which Mr. Hollis said that the Cabinet was conferring with wheat monopolists for the discontinuance of the Sherman Anti-Trust law. This was a part of his charge that the Democrats had failed in their promise to reduce the high cost of living as made at the time of Mr. Wilson's first election.

In speaking of the need of a protective tariff Mr. Watson quoted from the History of the American People, written by Woodrow Wilsonville, a professor at Princeton University. Mr. Wilson in his history showed that twice in the world's history, at the time of the Neoplatonic wars and the Chinese war, conditions were the same as at present—a foreign war and a reduced tariff. Mr. Wilson's history says that at the conclusion of the wars the prosperity of this nation was destroyed by the flooding of the country with manufactured goods from Europe, made as far less cost because of the low wage scale, and the possibility of underselling the American manufacturer. Mr. Wilson's history says that the remedy was the establishment of the tariff for protection.

In concluding his speech the election of Mr. Burroughs who would stand and fight for the President during the war and would work for the passage of legislation which would protect the nation when peace was declared, which he predicted would come before the expiration of Mr. Wilson's term of office.

PEACE TALK IN GERMANY MERE BLIND

PROPAGANDA CALCULATED TO LULL U. S. INTO PASSIVE PARTICIPATION IS REVEALED

Copenhagen, May 17.—Germany is no longer "playing possum," letting hints creep out through her censorship showing alleged popular waves for peace and seeking to lull her enemies into the belief she is weakening. On the contrary, it is war, uncompromisingly and bitterly, to the end. And Americans here see in this new development the necessity for throwing all America's weight immediately into the fray.

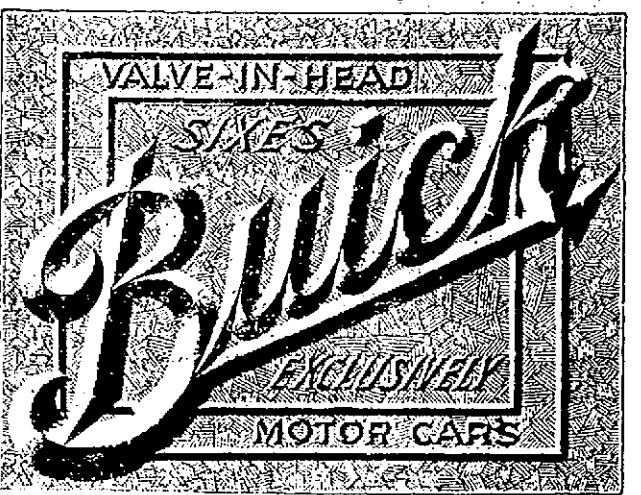

From this close ring-side seat to the fight, this opinion is unanimous among Americans and allied officials and citizens here on German Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg's speech. Copenhagen is closest of all neutrals to the German side of the conflict, and less subject to outside influences.

The American and allies here regard Hollweg's speech as that of a leader or victor in a small-sized brush with antagonistic political elements. They hold he would never have made so uncompromisingly curt an address if he were not sure of his grip. They hold the chancellor has fully refuted the flood of intimations from Germany's propaganda department that Germany is ready to quit. They hope Hollweg's unequivocal stand for continuation of the war will eradicate that element in America which has counseled for passive participation in the war in the hope that Germany is getting ready for a compromise.

Clever Propaganda
Well informed officials here interpret the almost universal approval of Hollweg's speech as voiced in German newspapers, as an indication that the chancellor has survived the political crisis in his career. They are not by any means sure there ever was a serious political crisis threatening Hollweg's political head; that it may have been a very clever German propaganda move to spread authenticated reports of internal dissensions. Latest reports from Germany might be counted on to influence Russia as well as the United States. Russian Socialists have already apparently taken great stock in these

FORESTERS IN ARMY OF ENGINEERS

Washington, May 17.—A corps of foresters, to be a full regiment, and to include experienced foresters, woodsmen and lumber workers, will form one of the units of the army of engineers which will go to France. They will be recruited from volunteers. It was announced tonight by the war department, and will have as their duties the selection and preparation of the materials to be used in construction work by the engineers.

Portsmouth, N. H., Friday, May 18, 1917.

No Cause for Alarm.

At a time like this, when the necessity of big crops of all kinds is felt by the country as never before, confidence and consolation are to be derived from such a report as was brought from the West a few days ago by J. H. Mendell of Manchester, an outline of which was given in this paper. Mr. Mendell in an extensive business trip through several of the leading grain states found the farmers awake to the situation and pushing their business as they have never done before, and the prospect bright for a harvest that will mean much to the country and the world.

And in his recital of what he saw Mr. Mendell brings to light one point which had to a considerable extent been lost sight of, particularly in this part of the country, where wheat growing has for many years been among the things that were. This is that the country is by no means dependent upon winter wheat for its bread supply. Recent government reports of the shortage of this crop, due to unfavorable conditions since it was planted last fall, have been very disturbing and there has been a fear that the supply of wheat would fall far short of the demands at home and abroad. For this reason the report brought back from the wheat belt by Mr. Mendell is encouraging and heartening in the highest degree.

He reminds us that there is such a thing as spring wheat and that the wheat growers are not asleep. They are up and doing, with the result that there is probably the greatest acreage of this crop in the history of the country. Even the railroads have put their lands under cultivation, and in the absence of specially unfavorable weather conditions the West will give a most gratifying account of itself this year.

There should be no alarm about the supply of food. Owing to war conditions the demand will be greater than usual, and for this reason it is well that every available acre should be worked to capacity in every part of the United States. That this is to be done is evidenced in all quarters. This is a great and resourceful country, possessing almost every known climate and soil somewhere within its borders and leading any other nation in the world in the variety and volume of its products. It is pleasant to know that in the general effort to increase food production this year New Hampshire is preparing to do her part, and it is easy to believe that when the results of the season's labors are summed up next fall the Granite State will be entitled at least to "honorable mention."

A Prussian professor calls for frightfulness in the U-boat warfare to an extent that would make the present practice seem tame. His idea is that when a ship is sunk the crew and all on board should be allowed to go down with it. He says: "If U-boats were destroyed so that they disappeared without leaving a trace terror would soon keep seamen and travelers away from the danger zones and thus save many lives." As a saving program this has at least the virtue of novelty, and it would have been recognized as of Prussian origin if not so labeled.

The situation in Russia is rather disturbing just now to this country and the allies, but it is not easy to believe that the people of that country are ready to abandon what they have gained to please Germany or anybody else. The arrival of the American commission headed by Elihu Root will be very liable to turn the tide against the elements that would replace the shackles upon the people of that long-suffering country.

President Wilson received a delegation of suffragists the other day, and while he did not commit himself, the visitors went away "very much encouraged." It is an inspiring time for suffrage and prohibition, though neither is yet an accomplished fact. But things change rapidly these days and there is no telling what may happen at any time.

We hear much about the government "getting after the gamblers in food and fuel." If it would only do this by adding prosecution to investigation it is probable that relief would ensue. Small protection life would be afforded if the authorities were to content themselves with merely establishing the fact that murder had been committed.

In numerous cities the authorities are promising all possible protection of gardens for the encouragement of those who are contemplating the planting of "war gardens," but fearing their labors may be in vain because of thieves.

The kaiser still thinks enough of American dentists to employ one to take care of his teeth. And there are other classes of Americans he will learn to respect before the present trouble is ended.

For the last two years the slogan has been "See America first." Now it is "See France first," and there are many thousands of young men preparing to do it.

One Ray in the Darkness
(From the Brooklyn Eagle)

If needless telephone calls are checked by new taxation, busy men may well be thankful. Let us reflect upon our blessings, present and prospective.

Let Russia Take Heed
(From the Philadelphia Public Ledger)

What the United States has done and what the other allies are advising for the good of Russia must make some impression, especially if it gets down to those who are not only suspicious of everyone in authority, but even of themselves as well. And if they heed for then once their own splendid statesmen and their friends abroad, the plots of Hohenzollernism will fall and Russia will slowly evolve stability out of the present state of unstable and uncertain political equilibrium.

The Result—A Netch
(From the Lewiston Journal)

The slogan "Don't Sell Your Cows," should be promulgated in every community in New England, as dairying is the foundation of agriculture in every state east of the Rocky Mountains. Farmers who are selling their cows will find themselves in the same position as an army which destroyed bridges behind it and when it wished to return could not do so and was overtaken by the enemy.

With the new season at hand when the cows may be turned out to pasture, each farmer ought to keep every cow he has at present and add as many more as possible.

The farmers are being advised by many to keep their cows for patriotic reasons, but some of the leading dairy men of New England believe that this good business on their part to keep the cows they now have or add to their herd. If holding on to their cows is a patriotic movement so much the better, and if the farmer is improving his condition and being patriotic at the same time he is accomplishing more than men engaged in other walks of life.

It would be unwise to sell cows and buy commercial fertilizer. It would be more in keeping with good business to keep more cows and buy less fertilizer. Farmers will be a big factor in the present war and they can do as much or more good by raising food and producing dairy products than by shouldering a gun.

Keep your cows, raise more calves, build silos should be the watchword which should ring throughout New England and anyone who lends his good office to this end will be doing a good deed for himself, the community in which he lives, as well as the country at large.

Cheaper to Eat in London
(From the Providence Journal)

Prevailing retail prices for various vegetables in London, as quoted on Monday, April 30 last, and the lowest cost of the same articles in Providence on Friday, May 11, afford a contrast which should interest students of the present acute problem of how to live on the average American income.

On the dates named carrots were seven cents a bunch in London and nine cents in Providence. Onions cost eight cents at London and fifteen cents in our markets. Here the vegetable price for beets was fourteen cents a bunch, while the housewife, along the Thames had to pay only eight cents. Local vegetable dealers, however, were charging only four and five cents a pound for turnips, for which the cost of the British capital were getting six cents. Of seven items turnips was the only one to the credit of Providence as compared with London, which quoted turnips at a cent a pound less than ours and where cauliflower for which Providence had to pay all the way from forty to fifty cents, according to size, was quoted at only from eight to twelve cents.

How far back from the consumer toward the gardener need we go to get at the causes of this sharp contrast in the cost of vegetables at London and Providence? London is only 150 miles from the scene of the most devastating battles in history; it is on a beleaguered island which even in time of peace was compelled to draw a large part of its sustenance from overseas, and for more than two years its foodstuffs have been imported with increasing difficulty through the swarms of undersea ravagers of cargoes.

Why a Large Corn Crop
(From the New York Commercial)

According to the government crop report, so much winter wheat was winter killed and has been plowed up that the crop must necessarily be a very small one. In addition to this calamity we are having a very backward spring. In Europe the spring has been equally backward and there is no possibility of a large crop of wheat on that continent. The Federal Government, every corn growing state and every farmer who lives where corn can be cultivated must concentrate on producing the largest possible corn crop this year. In our southern states the spring is equally backward, and for this reason there is still time to plant a large quantity of corn. A high price for corn is better assured than a good price for cotton, and the south should take advantage of this opportunity to grow more corn than ever before. Within the last quarter of a century grades of corn have been developed which will ripen as far north as Canada, and large quantities of corn are now grown in Ontario. In the same way and for the same reason the corn belt has been extended into the Dakotas and Minnesota. Corn has no great advantage over all other grains—it does not have to be cut or pulled as soon as it is ripe. A farmer does not need any more help to harvest corn than he does to sow and cultivate it, and for that reason the labor problem is simpler.

It may be disagreeable to cut down the wheat bread ration, but we shall not starve if we have plenty of corn and meat and dairy products. If we are compelled to eat more corn bread or whole wheat bread or bread made of combinations of grains in order to counteract the possible shortness of wheat, it is extremely important that a large supply of butter and other edible fats be produced in this country. Nearly everyone who eats corn bread or whole wheat bread or bread made from mixed grains as a matter of choice uses more butter with it than he does with ordinary white bread. To make these substitute breads palatable more butter and other edible fats must be available.

If we have to live largely on corn, a large crop of corn will solve many of our difficulties, because we can feed part of the corn to the cattle and cows that produce the butter and eat the butter on the bread, made from the rest of the corn. It is well to look ahead and the Department of Agriculture should take all these things into account and do more than simply tell us that we must eat corn bread because there is not wheat enough to go round.

Letters from the People

Playing to the Railroad

Editor: In your account of the controversy between the city and the Boston and Maine railroad, published on Thursday evening over the Middle street paving, it is plain that the city will play into the hands of the railroad should the car line be closed on Middle street. Nobody would suffer any more than the public who would be compelled to walk to the junction of Miller, Avenue and Middle street to take cars for the seashore. At the present time it appears that the public service board will be required to stricken out the matter and until then it doesn't look like any paving for this principal highway.

WEST END.

Editor: One would judge by the condition of the streets in the business section of the city that street sweeping is not an important part in the work of the street department and that the sweeping machine is now held in reserve. This is the season for general cleaning up and why not the streets as well as the private property. The lower end of Market street is by no means a credit to Portsmouth.

THE PAY DOES NOT APPEAL TO RAILROAD MEN

The salaries attached to the positions for railroad work in England and France as advertised in the interest of the men of the B. & M. who wish to enlist for service in these countries, does not appeal to many of them, so they say, but still a lot of them are going to do their bit.

The same rate of pay as they now receive would be the means of a large number crossing the Atlantic for service.

Assistant paymasters enter the service with the rank of ensign and receive $1,870 a year, while on sea duty, and $1,700 plus an allowance while on shore duty.

OLYMPIA THEATRE NOTES

Within the next two or three weeks we will have some of the best pictures of the year. We are going to announce the names of the most important ones in a list which can be kept for reference purposes.

One of these extraordinary pictures is going to be "Snow White" with Marguerite Clark. It is to be doubted if any picture in the United States played to as many people as has this picture.

Another play of great import, because of its timeliness is "The Victoria Cross," with Lou Tellegen. It is a British war play.

Then in about two weeks William Hart is to star in one of his best—"The Desert Man."

Weather—wait until you see the storm in the Blue Bird picture today. Submarines and U-boats have nothing on Patty Aruckle when it comes to submerging his three hundred odd pounds.

With the first sign of spring, Miss Pauline Frederick began to shop for a new automobile. This year she has purchased a glittering Peerless roadster which is guaranteed to do two or three miles a minute. It is understood that the object in having the car painted green was to have it blend with the foliage and the surrounding scenery so that it would be invisible to the sneaking low-down motor cop as it tore through space.

Now a word about our program for today and tomorrow. To say the least and without a bit of exaggeration, it is by far the best bill of the week.

Thomas Ince presents his new Australian beauty, Enid Bennett, in the "Triangle Kay Bee" play, "The Little Brother."

This play is one of the most appealing.

Here's The Car

Dodge Bros.' Roadster, good as new, run only 1628 miles; big value for someone. Talk quick or it's gone.

POLITICS FAST WARMING UP IN THE FIRST DISTRICT

Republicans are glad that things politically are warming up in the first congressional district. The voters are getting interested in the special election which takes place on May 29. Ontario, eloquence and "gumshoeing" are taking place in the district. The Hon. Sherman E. Burroughs, the Republican candidate and Patrick H. Sullivan, the Democratic aspirant, are both out on the trail, meeting the voters and holding forth oratorically. Great men in the Republican party will be heard at the hustings. U. S. Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, one of the top-notch Republican spoliards of this nation will speak at Manchester on Friday evening. On Saturday he speaks at a big rally at Tilton. Former Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw of Iowa is another national character who will hold forth in many New Hampshire towns and cities. Another great speaker who will be heard is the Hon. Joseph G. Cannon who is scheduled for Manchester on May 26. The visit of the famous "Uncle Joe" is attracting state wide interest. Senators Wadsworth, Harding, Weeks, Pennington, Curtis and Borah are well known names who are likely to be heard. All are men of national renown. It is probable that Congressman Campbell and Rodenburg, two of the great house orators at Washington will appear at the hustings, which will make it the greatest array of big timber that has been in New Hampshire in many years.

All indications from over the district point to the election of the Hon. Sherman E. Burroughs, if the Republican vote turns out in the country towns. It is all over but the shouting. Patrick H. Sullivan is daily being ground and his candidacy does not look as formidable as it did two weeks ago. His nomination, actually forced on the party, has left behind bitterness in many places, and he is growing weaker instead of stronger. Voters have begun to talk and think about conditions that are going to exist in this district after the war is over. The laboring man, especially in this industrial section, are skeptical and fearful of the results of Democratic legislation when conditions get normal again throughout the world. They are anxious about their employment, and they are wondering if under democracy the mills and the factories can be kept running. They are looking at the matter from a broad and better standpoint, and Patrick H. Sullivan and the Democratic party do not look like a good political investment for the future. They know that under the protective policies of the Republican party they have a guarantee of prosperity and steady employment, and this reasoning is turning away men to the candidacy of the Hon. Sherman E. Burroughs, for they know he is a safe bet; that he stands for progress and prosperity and that his party believe in preserving the American market for the American workman.

Candidate Burroughs has been frank in his declarations of policy. The people know where he stands. He has not dodged or padded. He has met all issues put before him in a manly manner. The Republicans are rallying to the support of Congressman Burroughs because of these things, and men of all parties will give him their votes for the reason that they feel that he is the kind of a man this country and the district needs at this time. The election and its significance is impressing itself on the people as the single vote of this district may determine the fiscal policy of this congress. All over the district is heard talk that this is too critical a time to experiment and that the best interests of the state demand the continuance of a Republican member and the re-establishment of Republican principles. This has turned the tide to Burroughs, and if the voters turn out as is expected, they will then Republican victory is practically assured.—Manchester Mirror.

NEW HAMPSHIRE JEWISH CONGRESS HAS BEEN ORGANIZED

A New Hampshire Jewish Congress has been organized with representatives from every Jewish organization in the state in its membership. The officers are as follows:

E. M. Chase, president; Louis Shapiro, vice president; S. Tattelman, financial secretary; Abraham Green, treasurer; Maurice Hammett, corresponding secretary. This congress will represent the Jews of New Hampshire in all of the undertakings which they will attempt from now on.

It has been requested that the different organizations of the state do not take any steps or make any arrangements for the coming election of representatives for the American Jewish congress until they have been officially notified to do so by the New Hampshire Jewish congress.

Plans for the coming campaign will be arranged for next Sunday at a meeting held in the synagogue at Nashua at 2:30 p. m., at which time several important suggestions will be made and acted upon. After the conclusion of this meeting a mass meeting will be held.

At the meeting held on Tuesday evening to which everyone interested in the cause was asked for a memorializing Mr. Baumstein addressed the contributions for the late friend and comrade Israel Itenski, which was given by the entire audience rising to their feet and standing in silence for five minutes.

ing since "Peggy," and tells how Jerry, a girl of the alums, seeks her living disguised as a newsboy. The story is one of the wholesome kind that is possible to write and we believe this picture will be well received.

The Blue Bird play on the bill is a special production, and played all last week at the Rialto Theatre in New York city.

It features Myrtle Gonzales and George Hernandez, who were seen some time ago in "God's Crucible."

"Anthony" is the title of the picture today and is an exciting tale of adventure by sea and land. There is a ship wreck in this picture that is positively the most thrilling scene ever shown in motion pictures.

Molly King supported by Leon Barry appears in the second episode of "Mystery of the Double Cross," the most interesting and most baffling mystery play ever conceived.

This bill will please the most exacting audience and we look for you to come and enjoy yourselves.

HOME NURSING CLASS FORMED

A second class in home nursing has been formed and Miss McCarthy will continue to instruct. The members are as follows: Miss Hattie Reed, Mrs. W. J. Cator, Mrs. Edward Sterling, Mrs. Willis Rugg, Miss Mary Griffin, Miss Annie McDonough, Miss Aylmer, Mrs. Ames Locke, Miss Margaret Paul, Miss Sally Harvey, Miss Alice, Mrs. Annie Jackson, Miss Simpley, Miss Hartford.

The first class has only two more lessons after which they will voluntarily spend seventy-two hours in the Portsmouth hospital. The local hospital is a "bato hospital."

HOUSE REFUSES TO STRIKE OUT CLAUSE

Washington, May 18.—The house this morning by a vote of 123 to 51 refused to strike out the clause designed to be away with the retroactive tax of one-third of last year's tax.

PLAN WORK ON STATE ROADS

Only Necessary Repairs Will Be Made This Year.

Concord, May 18.—Work on the roads of the state was mapped out yesterday at a meeting of the division engineers of the state highway department in the state house.

It is the purpose of Commissioner Frederic E. Everett to do as little state aid work this year as is compatible with the labor needs of the farms, and today's meeting was held with that end in view.

Only the more pressing roadway construction will be undertaken at the present, all of those present agreeing that the needs of the state as viewed by the committee on public safety should rule.

TO CURTAIL TRAIN SERVICE

Boston & Maine Will Cut Down Number of Trains
From June 25.

The Boston and Maine railroad announces a curtailment of its passenger train service to go into effect June 25. The statement issued last night is as follows:

"Because of the coal shortage which is acute; because of the difficulty in securing labor; and because of the added work which the organization of training camps for our new army will place upon them; in short, because of the war, the railroads of the country are facing a serious situation. Add to present troubles the fact that with the coming of the formation of the new army there will be an even more serious labor shortage, and it is apparent that the problem of getting the most out of the present transportation facilities is bound to be one that will demand sacrifice all along the line.

"Treating of this subject the American Railway Association's committee on National Defense said:

"The inconvenience to the government and to the public caused by this will be far less than to fail to move all freight regularly and promptly and not to have an adequate fuel supply next winter.

"In common with the other roads of the country, the Boston and Maine is at present rearranging its passenger train service with an eye to accomplishing the end desired. There is no other way open to handle the additional business that is bound to come. While it is too early to give the reduction in detail, the changes will be effective on June 25, and detailed information will be sent out as much before that date as possible."

The Grafton club in its effort to promote "better pictures" has arranged for "Alice in Wonderland," to be shown at the Olympia Theatre on Saturday morning.

Children are seldom considered by the modern producers and it is rarely ever that children can be taken to the moving picture shows with any degree of safety if the mother is a thoughtful one.

"Alice in Wonderland," will be of interest to adults as well as children and Portsmouth is fortunate in being able to see this elaborate performance, the original production of which cost $25,000.

GIRLS CLUB NOTES.

The monthly social was held last evening at the Club House. The young women at the Navy Yard were the guests of honor. Miss Kimball spoke on the bills which had been before the Massachusetts legislature this past winter, which the Massachusetts Association of Women Workers had endorsed, the eight-hour bill and health insurance.

Mrs. Margaret Corey sang several selections. The committee was assisted by Mrs. Hull, Mrs. Law, Miss Kimball, Margaret Winn, Esther Green, Florence Harris and Ethel Orr.

Refreshments of fruit punch, sandwiches and peanuts were served.

Dancing was much enjoyed for which Teresa Brooks played, and the evening's good time closed with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner.

The "Carnival of Nations" is the next great event, and this comes on next Wednesday from 3 to 10 p. m.

Songs and dances in the afternoon at 1 o'clock, and at 8 o'clock a set of tableaux representing girls from different nations will be given.

Ladies in Japanese costume will serve you your tea, candy may be bought from the French and cake from our own United States.

Special Panel For Grand Jury Drawn at Request of Attorney General.

The arraignment of the prisoners indicted at the May term of the superior court for Rockingham county was held at the court house in this city on Friday morning at 10 o'clock before Judge William H. Sawyer.

James A. Cassidy of Portsmouth was arraigned on the charge of breaking and entering and larceny, but at the request of County Solicitor Sleeper the case was passed.

Charles Corson of Northwood, indicted for grand larceny, pleaded guilty and a sentence of one year in the county jail was imposed by the court.

Harold Fisher and Elmer Childs, deserters from the Coast Artillery Corps at Fort McKinley, Portland, indicted for having burglar's tools in their possession, each pleaded guilty. County Solicitor Sleeper said he had received a letter from the commanding officer at Fort McKinley, stating that it was desired that the men be turned over to the commanding officer at Fort Constitution when the state was through with them. In view of this fact Judge Sawyer imposed a sentence of three months in jail, which was suspended during good behavior and on payment of costs of court.

FRANK A. VANDERLIP URGES SUBSCRIPTIONS TO LIBERTY LOAN
BOND ISSUE AS THE BEST MEANS OF SECURING THE COUN-TRY'S FUTURE BUSINESS FOLLOWING THE WAR.

(By Associated Press)

New York, May 17.—Different business but better business for America during the war was predicted today by Frank A. Vanderlip, banker and member of the Council of National Defense's advisory commission. In a prepared statement, Mr. Vanderlip said the war will call for readjustments but not for diminution in volume of business; that times will be better than ever before, and that the people should be getting ready for top speed production that will utilize every energy.

"The sooner the public gets over the idea that we want 'business as usual,' or can have 'business as usual' during this great war the better for all," he said. "We want to stop all unnecessary work and unnecessary expenditures short off, and concentrate on the immense volume of work which has to be done. Business men should get rid of bringing on a general paralysis of industry or trade."

"There is no danger of not having work for everybody; the trouble is that there is more work in sight than can possibly be done, and the question is whether we shall cut off luxuries or necessities. It is absurd under these conditions to talk of the danger of unemployment, and to urge that the people shall go on buying what they do not actually need in order to keep labor from unemployment or to maintain 'business as usual.'"

"How is labor to be had to make uniforms unless it is released from making other clothes; how are homes to be had for blankets unless released from something else; how is steel to be had for ships, for cars and agricultural implements unless other consumption is curtailed; how are women to be had for offices unless released elsewhere; and, finally, how are we to put $7,000,000,000 or $5,000,000,000 of purchasing power at the disposal of the government unless we curtail our individual expenditures?"

"The country should immediately awake to the fact that it has a great task in hand, and that it cannot carry on a war like this with one hand and continue to do all the business it did before with the other."

"Most of the argument against economy assumes that the people who economize will hoard their money. That of course would be foolish, but if they lend their savings to the government it will and its way directly back into circulation in providing for the government's needs."

"These bond issues will necessitate more taxation in the future than in the past, but the person who practices self-denial now in order to buy a bond not only aids the government but provides an offset to future taxation on this account. The individual who takes his share of the bonds will pay his taxes into his own pocket."

"Every community should be closely organized, for subscriptions to these bonds. Once the habit of saving to buy a bond is established it will not be abandoned when the war is over, but a million new springs of wealth will be developed to help on the development of industry and the progress of society in the future. Parents should buy for their children, and employees should join hands with their employers in the name of a common patriotism and to bring an end to the world's best kept war."

"In setting out to raise the first installment of the $7,000,000,000 bond issue, it is very important for the people of this country to understand just how large the task is and how they must go about it. If the first place our situation is quite different from that of England in that England had a great amount of capital employed abroad which it was able to convert and bring home. We have few holdings of foreign securities and there is no other market in which securities can be sold. This is a rich country but its wealth is in real estate, factories, railways, and the machinery of production. This property cannot be paid into the government treasury, nor can money be raised in any general sense by selling property to each other. We see the effect of this in declining security markets. Such efforts to depreciate capital values, disturb confidence, make people feel poor and in that way actually make the task harder."

"This loan cannot possibly be taken up by the mere conversion of bank funds now idle. The people must anticipate their earnings and pledge them in advance. The treasury allows payments upon installments, and if these terms do not suit the subscriber's convenience he should consult a banker of his acquaintance."

"The bankers must make up their minds to lend freely, and at a moderate interest rate, to promote this loan; this is a great national emergency, and ordinary rules should not govern. In the first place, loans made with these bonds as collateral, with marginal payments, will be safe beyond question, and, in the second place, the Federal Reserve banks are at hand to back up the local banks. It is time now to lay aside all resolutions and prejudices against re-discounting."

"On the other hand, no would-be subscriber has the right, while pretending to render a public service himself, to throw all of the burden on a bank. He should not make a subscription without a bona fide intention of paying up on it within a reasonable time, and he should make a payment down."

AS OUT OF DATE AS HORSE CARS

Says corn rings, plasters, razor and eating salves are taboo now.

Good things should be passed along it is now said that a few drops of a drug called freezeone applied directly upon a tender, itching corn relieves the soreness and soon the entire corn, root and all, can be lifted out without pain. For little cost a quarter of an ounce of freezeone can be obtained from any drug store, which is claimed to be sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet.

This is a drug recently announced from Cincinnati. It is gummy but dries the moment it is applied and simply shrivels up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the healthy tissue of the skin.

ARGENTINA BARS EXPORT OF WHEAT

ENFORCES EMBARGO ANNOUNCED IN APRIL BUT DELAYED ON BRITISH PROTEST

Buenos Ayres, May 17.—The Argentine government today announced a prohibition on the exportation of wheat. It was the government's second announcement of an embargo. The first, effective early in April, was held in abeyance through protest of Great Britain, backed by the United States.

At that time the British government threatened to cut off all shipments of coal to Argentina. Inasmuch as the republic is entirely dependent on imported coal for its industries, the United States was reported to have joined in this application of pressure on Argentina, and in the face of this combination, too powerful for Argentina to resist, the original embargo was changed.

The settlement provided that England should be permitted to purchase an enormous quantity of Argentine wheat, the same to be repaid late in the fall when the Australian crop was harvested.

Whether the embargo today is with regard to this agreement with England or is an independent step by the republic has not been made known.

BALLOTS WILL BE VERY SHORT

The ballots for the first district congressional special election, which have been prepared by the secretary of state, met the most exacting requirements of the advocates of a short ballot. The ballot measures by the type six by nine inches and bears the name of only two candidates, Patrick H. Sullivan, the Democratic nominee, and Sherman E. Burroughs, the Republican candidate. There is also a blank space for those who desire to vote for other than the regularly nominated candidates, and acting under the election laws of the state. Secretary of State Bean must fold the ballots twice.

RUSSIAN ARMY GENERALS HAVE RECONSIDERED

RESIGNATIONS WITHDRAWN BY TWO LEADERS AND NO OTHERS ARE EXPECTED SINCE CONFERENCE

(By Associated Press)

Petrograd, via London, May 17.—As a result of a military conference held here today in which the commanders of all the Russian armies with the exception of those in the Caucasus, General Brusilov and General Gurko have withdrawn their resignations and will return to their respective commands. The report of further resignation is denied and officials of the provisional government do not expect that there will be any further changes by resignation in the commands of the forces fighting against the Teutonic allies. The crisis in the army in conjunction with the political crisis had caused much unrest for a time. With its settlement normal conditions are expected to follow among the people of Russia.

CONSCRIPTION BILL PASSED AND READY FOR SIGNING

(By Associated Press)

Washington, May 17.—Final action on the war army bill to raise an army for the war against Germany of 2,300,000 men in increments of 500,000 was taken today in the Senate. The Senate passed the bill by adopting the report of the conference committee by a vote of 65 to 3. The bill had previously been adopted by the House. It will be signed by Vice President Marshall and Speaker Champ Clark today and will be sent to the President at once for his signature. As it is an administration measure and the President's anxious to start work at once in raising the army the bill will probably be a law before tomorrow night.

The provisions of the bill calls for an army to fight the war against Imperial Germany by selective conscription, to be composed of 2,000,000,000 men in increments of 500,000 each, each increment to be drafted from the registration lists of young men between the ages of 21 and 30, inclusive. It also authorizes, but not direct, the raising of a volunteer army, as suggested by Col. Roosevelt, for immediate service in France.

Plans Complete for Registration.
The machinery for the registration and drafting of the army is already far advanced. The plans having been completed by the War Department and within a few days after the signing of the bill by the President these plans will be put into operation. The day will likely be named by proclamation by the President within ten days. Long General Crowder, Provost Marshal General of the army, expects to be ready for the selective draft within five days after the registration lists are at the department in Washington.

Secretary of War Baker announced his evening that although the registration would begin at once and the drafting would follow immediately after it is not likely that the forces will be called for mobilization before September owing to lack of supplies.

It is entirely up to President Wilson now if Col. Roosevelt will be allowed to proceed with the recruiting of his army for duty in France. Although the President has not as yet expressed his views on the matter it is now expected that he will delay action in this matter until the first 500,000 men have been drafted and the machinery for the second draft is in operation.

As in the previous discussion on the bill the closing discussion was on the so-called Roosevelt amendment and Col. Roosevelt was bitterly attacked on the floor of the Senate by Senator Stone of Missouri. He was as ably defended by his friend Senator Johnson of California.

The eight Senators voting against the adoption of the bill were: Democratic Senators Gore of Oklahoma, Harwick of Georgia, Kerby of Arkansas, Stone of Missouri and Tillman of Florida; Republican Senators La Follette of Wisconsin, Gurnea of North Dakota, and Norris of Nebraska.

LOST

The late Ghann Marston of New Hampshire was arguing a complicated case, and looked up authorities back to Julius Caesar. At the end of an hour and a half, in the most intricate part of his plea, he was pained to see he had looked like inattention, as he had feared. The judge was unable to appreciate the nice points of his argument.

"Your honor, he said, 'I beg your pardon, but do you follow me?'"

"I have so far," answered the judge, shifting wearily about in his chair, but I'll say frankly that if I could find my way back, I'd quit right here."

MONEY MEANS EARLY END TO EUROPEAN WAR

SECRETARY MADDOO URGES EVERYONE TO SUBSCRIBE TO THE LIBERTY LOAN IN ADDRESS AT CHICAGO

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, May 17.—It is possible that one great battle won by the allies against the Germans will bring the war to an end before the United States has her armies in the field and the money loaned to the allies will make this possible, said Secretary McAdoo tonight in an address to a number of bankers and financiers. He urged that every man and woman subscribe to the Liberty Loan as every dollar loaned to the allies at this time meant a blow against German imperialism and would help bring the war to a successful speedy conclusion.

STRIKE VOTE IS PASSED BY FREIGHT MEN

(By Associated Press)

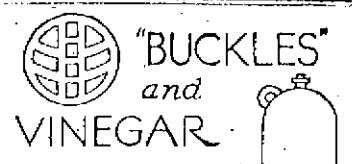

Boston, May 17.—The union freight handlers employed on the Mystic and the Housatonic docks tonight voted to strike tomorrow night for an increase of $1.00 a day. The strike will affect much of the shipping of supplies from this port to the allies.

BOWLING

Dexter and Paul Rolled Well

On the Arcade Alleys last evening Dexter and Paul defeated Lessor and Badger in a special ten-string match, 1953 to 1591. Dexter rolled high with a total of 978, rolling 114 for his high single. Lessor also rolled a single of 114. Paul rolled better than 100 in six of his ten strings, with 111 his highest.

The summary:
Dexter—96, 95, 114, 95, 97, 94, 86, 103, 95, 109—378.
Paul—91, 93, 83, 101, 103, 102, 101, 83, 111, 104—375.
Lessor—58, 103, 98, 97, 95, 90, 70, 114, 82, 91—318.
Badger—104, 70, 52, 73, 94, 105, 97, 90, 84, 100—313.

PICTURE many small piles of perforated lead disks of the above design but six inches in diameter. Call the disks "buckles" because they resemble the shoe buckles of Colonial days. Imagine the fumes of weak acetic acid (vinegar) and carbonic acid gas passing thru the holes in the buckles for more than three months, finally turning the blue lead white all thru.

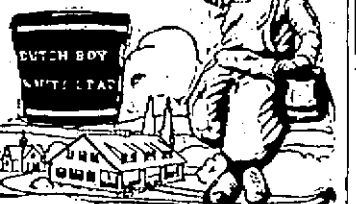

The white-lead is ground and washed to snow-white cleanness. Then, mixed to a paste with pure linseed oil, it is packed in steel containers.

You now have a fair idea of how.

Dutch Boy Red Seal White-Lead

The body of non-cracking, non-scaling house paint, is made from metal lead. Only the addition of more linseed oil is needed to make Dutch Boy White-Lead into good, old-fashioned paint—the kind that keeps houses bright and sound. The paint may be left white or tinted to suit your taste.

TRIESTE CLOSE TO CAPTURE BY ITALIAN FORCES

SUCCESS REPORTED ALL ALONG THE LINE FOR THE ALLIED ARMIES—BRITISH IN COMPLETE CONTROL OF BULLECCOURT

(By Associated Press)

After days of intensive fighting the British are in complete control and have driven the Germans completely away from the region of Bulleccourt, lighting the village and surrounding territory in spite of the strong counter-attacks of the Teutons. The British forces are now threatening the Drocourt-Quentin line. Thousands of Teuton troops have been thrown into the fray against the British but their attempts to drive back the victorious forces have all failed, according to the official statements.

East of Arras in the region of Roubaix the British have gained further successes against the Germans. In the fighting of Wednesday night they forced the Germans to give ground in the Roubaix region and held their new gains in the face of heavy attacks to recover.

Although furious attacks have been launched by the Germans against the French northeast of Soissons all of the attacks were repulsed by artillery and infantry fighting, the Teutons suffering severe casualties.

Darlin officially reports that in the first sixteen days of fighting in May the Germans have taken 6000 prisoners from the allied forces, 2300 British and 2700 French prisoners falling into their hands.

From Toulon to the sea the Italians are keeping up their attacks against the Austrians and are increasing their gains, throwing back all counter attacks. An unofficial report states that the Italians have captured the famous watering resort of Duino at the head of the Gulf of Trieste, twelve miles from the city of Trieste, the most important port of Austria on the Adriatic. In the six days of fighting since the start of the Italian push they have made prisoners 4021 officers and men of the Austrian armies, the official statement from the war office claims.

In Macedonia the Teutons have also lost heavily to the British and in the Gerna River section despite the reinforcements from Bulgaria the Germans have lost much ground on a one-half-mile front east of the Stuma. The British have captured the village of Kijupel.

Why Run the Risk of Spoiling Food When a Gas Range INSURES PERFECT RESULTS

A burned cake is mighty expensive, but the best cook in the world can't always get just the right brown with a cranky oven. Perfect results can only be certain in the homes that have modern gas ranges where the heat is easily controlled and perfectly regulated.

shall be one meatless day a week, in the city and metropolitan area on Tuesdays and elsewhere in the United Kingdom on Wednesdays. Only on meatless days and on Fridays may potatoes be eaten. Restaurant keepers are already loud in their grumbles at these regulations and predict the total disappearance of the well-known chop and steak luncheon which has been an institution of city and West End life for many years. They say a chop or steak of only five ounces cannot be worth eating and certainly will not suffice for a whole meal.

The Director General of Food Economy declares that the country's stock of foodstuff is low and urges everyone to be his own food controller to carry through the voluntary ration as laid down by Lord Devonport and so get through September without having to resort to the annoying system of compulsory rationing.

At the same time, he said, great efforts were being made to prevent excess profiteering, and within the last few days wheat had fallen two shillings a quarter. Stocks of foodstuff must not be allowed to fall below a danger line and in spite of all warnings and appeals to patriotism, the country refused to respond to the appeal for economy in the use of bread, compulsory rationing would be instituted at once.

TABLE SIRUP FROM SUGAR BEETS

Washington, D. C., March 18.—Sugar beets are grown in large quantities for sugar making but their value as a source of the family sirup supply has been overlooked. Sugar beets suitable for sugar making may be grown wherever soil or reasonable fertility is available. The sweetness of the beets may be greater in one locality than in another, but all sugar beets contain sugar enough to make sirup. Say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. The sirup may be made by a very simple process, and a few rows in the garden will produce beets enough to give a family all the sirup needed.

A bushel of beets will produce from three to five quarts of sirup. As the beets when mature should weigh from one to two pounds each, 30 or forty of them will make a bushel, and as the beets after thinning stand ten inches apart it is easy to determine how much ground to use for sugar beets. If a particular quantity of sirup is desired, a few rows in the garden generally will be sufficient.

The ground is plowed or spaded to a great depth, without turning up much raw soil and is made firm and smooth and free from lumps as early in the spring as possible. It is then kept free from weeds until seedling time.

The seed is planted half an inch or an inch deep, either in hills or in solid rows. If in hills, each hill contains from three to six seed balls and the hills are about ten inches apart. If in solid rows the plants are spaced by cutting out sections of the rows so that the plants remaining stand in tufts about ten inches apart. The rows are about 20 inches apart.

As soon as possible the beets are thinned to one plant in each hill or tuft. This is done by hand, as the plants are very close together. Good cultivation is necessary. Where irrigation is needed, the surface of the ground around the beets must not be flooded as a crust will form and the air will be cut off from the root.

For proper development, sugar beets require four to six months.

When they are ready for harvesting the tops show a yellowish tinge and the beets will pull up with little effort.

SHIP WRECKED IN BEHRING SEA

Of Nearly 150 Men on Stand-ard Only 29 Reported Rescued.

San Francisco, May 15.—The three masted ship Standard, owned by L. H. McNeill and Libby, is a total wreck of Cape Constantine in Behring Sea, according to a message received here yesterday by the navy radio station. Of nearly 150 men aboard the vessel, only 28 have been rescued, according to the report.

The vessel, which carried a large crew and many men for the Alaska canneries, stranded May 14 and was abandoned the next day when heavy seas began to pound her to pieces.

Five lifeboats, each crowded to capacity were launched. One was picked up a few hours later containing 29 men. So far, according to the message received here today, none of the remaining boats have been sighted.

FLOUR PRICES BREAK TO $15.50 ON GRAIN SLUMP

Chicago, May 17.—Wheat continued to fall on the Chicago Board of Trade today, early losses being 8 to 10 cents. July opened 9 cents under yesterday's close at $2.21 and half an hour later had lost another cent. September was down 7 cents at $2, and later went to $1.90.

Flour prices were on the decline, together with various other foodstuffs, and families that had stored away huge quantities of provisions in fear of a "famine" faced the prospect of next maximum-priced food for the next several months while their neighbors enjoyed cheaper commodities.

Flour, which soared to $17.80 wholesale only two days ago, has dropped to $15.50, or two local millers, it was reported, had even offered best grades as low as $15.50.

Dealers in all commodities said that the outlook for lower prices was more optimistic than in months, while Mr. Ultimate Consumer began to lose a little of that worried look.

Various reasons were assigned for the marked decline in wheat prices with the resultant drop in flour. The "trade" said it was due to the farmers "loosening up" on the wheat holdings. The man on the street had an idea that the curbing of speculation had something to do with it.

Would Cancel Contracts

Minneapolis, May 17.—The United States government has asked the allies to relinquish contracts for American wheat futures, according to advice received in the pit of the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce today. July opened down 17 cents below last night's close of $2.41. Flour was quoted today at $15.25 a decline of 25 cents over night.

GIRLS! MAKE A BEAUTY LOTION WITH LEMONS

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quart of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier. By squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, smoothener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It should naturally help to whiten, soften, freshen and bring out the roses and beauty of any skin. It is truly marvelous to smoothen rough red hands.

The public works department has started to relay the block paving on Market street which was removed during the winter by the telephone company for underground work. The expense of this work is covered by the company under a bond.

WENTWORTH HOME

The Walker Mission Band of the Middle street Baptist church, composed of twenty-two little girls under the direction of Miss Nellie Sides and Mrs. Frank Remick, gave a pleasant entertainment at the Wentworth Home on Thursday afternoon, May 17th. Miss Linn furnished the piano accompaniment. They sang in choruses many songs, some of them patriotic and national, and varied the program with a recitation and with several piano and vocal solos.

The explosion at Kittery Point caused quite a shock here.

EXPLOSION
DESTROYS LARGE POWER BOAT

The large power boat Annie T. Nels, used in the coast survey work, was badly damaged by a fire which resulted from an explosion on Friday morning and had to be scuttled at Frisbee's wharf, Kittery Point, in order to save the hull. The owner of the craft, Henry Clemon, and Walter Aker were aboard at the time making arrangements to start for the Isles of Shoals on their survey work. Mr. Clemon was engaged in filling the gasoline tank when there was a terrific explosion and the cabin and upper part of the boat was soon enveloped in flames. Both men did their utmost to extinguish the same, but finding the flames were getting the better of them the boat was scuttled.

So fast did the flames spread that the men had no opportunity to save any of their clothing and effects, as well as the valuable survey instruments owned by the government.

The loss will be particularly severe to Mr. Clemon as he had no insurance on the boat. The cause of the explosion is a mystery.

EXHIBITION BY SCHOOL PUPILS

There will be an exhibition of the work done by the pupils of the grammar schools in the practical arts at the High School Friday afternoon from 3 to 5 and in the evening from 7 to 9. The display will include sewing, garment making, and boys' wood working. There will also be a sale of cooked food. Music will be furnished by the Whipple school orchestra. The public is cordially invited.

MARRIED IN
